

Turn your best attribute into your very own business

We'll help you begin your journey to creating your very own business

All too often people find themselves in jobs that are uninspiring, unrewarding or just plain dull. When you consider we spend most of our waking lives working, it makes sense to spend that time doing something we are passionate about, that we excel in and have a vested interest in its success.

Locally Grown is an initiative aimed at helping talented people like you start their own business. We provide support and advice to help turn your passion into a rewarding business.

You are invited to attend our informal event where you can learn more about Locally Grown and how we can help you start your journey to self employment.

Thursday 14 November 2013
